

SALES MANAGER VACANCY

REDDITCH

In this role, you will lead by example and inspire our retail colleagues to maximise sales and deliver excellent customer service. You will be a key member of the senior management team within the store, reporting to the Store Manager.

What are we looking for?

To be successful in this role you will be a dedicated and experienced Sales Manager. You will lead by example and inspire our retail colleagues to maximise sales and deliver excellent customer service.

You will have the ability to show your retail management experience by driving sales and improving the store's performance, consistently meeting key performance indicators. As a Sales Manager, you will ensure that the store is well merchandised and continually look at ways to develop and improve business performance within the Departments that you are responsible for.

Working closely with the Store Manager you will have excellent communication skills and demonstrate a coaching management style, being clear, open and honest. You will ensure retail colleagues are trained to the highest of standards whilst having the ability to take corrective action when necessary.

The successful candidate will have a passion for sales and a positive, can-do attitude towards their role. With experience in change management and a record of meeting targets you will be career focused and self-motivated to get the best from your team.

Previous retail management experience is essential. In return, we offer a great salary, along with additional benefits and the opportunity to progress within an ever-growing business.
